Energy Consideration Could Cause Major Alteration In School Calendar

By Linda S. Corbett

The school committee and administration generally agree that a dramatic change in the school calendar may be necessary to cope with modern day energy problems.

But they most likely will settle on a variation of this year's calendar for 1980-81, and give the community a year or so to toss around a bigger step.

In any case, the community is seeking input from parents and faculty on various calendar options for 1980-81, in time for a decision at their May 20 meeting in the Large Group Room at Andover High.

Possible calendars presented by Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert Tuesday night run the gamut from the traditional calendar, similar to the current one, to others that would extend Christmas and winter vacations, close school at the beginning or end of June, provide four-day weeks, lengthen the school day by up to an hour and schedule Saturday morning classes during the brighter and warmer months.

Of major consideration, of course, is the educational impact on the school youngsters themselves, and Seifert said elementary teachers generally oppose lengthening the school day, for that reason. A representative of the Andover Education Association, on the other hand, said many secondary teachers prefer a plan that would let them out of school June 2, while lengthening regular school days by half an hour.

Another major consideration is "sociological"; child care needs for working parents and disruption of after school or weekend activities, for instance.

There seemed to be some support Tuesday for Plan A, the traditional calendar with an additional vacation day on Jan. 2, and Plans F or G, which lengthen the day by 18 and 7½ minutes respectively, lengthen Christmas and February vacations, and create long weekends over Veterans Day and Martin Luther King Day in January.

The plans presented are as follows.

Plan A. The traditional calendar, with teachers starting back Tuesday, Sept. 2, and pupils following on Thursday, Sept. 4. Two days off at Thanksgiving, with Christmas vacation beginning at noon on Tuesday, Dec. 23, and school resuming Monday, Jan. 5. February break would be the 13th to 23rd and April break, April 16 to 27. School would get out Wednesday, June 24. Anticipated fuel savings: About $5,400.

Plan B extends Christmas vacation from Friday, Dec. 19 to Monday, Jan 5;

Parent, Adult Involvement Needed To Curb Vandalism

By Sue Aucella Deacon

With warm weather setting in, Andover police hear increasing reports of senseless destruction and theft. Last month, Andover residents reported 80 incidences of shattered windows, sliced tires, stolen mailboxes, damaged lawns and other property damage.

The problem is vandalism. Most of it occurs on weekends, and police link most acts of vandalism to alcohol and drug abuse among young people.

"This is not a problem the police department can handle alone," says Police Chief James Johnson. "If we are going to curb senseless vandalism in Andover, the adults, parents, and all the citizens of this town will have to stand up and get involved."

During recent months, Chief Johnson, Crime Prevention Officer Joseph Oulette, and Juvenile Officer Joseph Hasting have spoken before a number of local organizations to explain how parents and residents can help fight vandalism.

Parents can start by accepting greater responsibility for their teenagers' actions, says Johnson. Vandalism often occurs when parents leave children alone in the house, for instance, and "home parties" get out of hand.

"It's nice to trust your kids," the chief says, "but many parents overlook the problem of peer pressure. These home parties can expand far beyond what was intended when parents are away. It's fine to give a child the authority to have a party, but parents can't absolve themselves of the responsibility if something happens."

Parents should always know where their children are, Johnson says, and "if your kid comes home stiff at night, ask where he's getting the booze. Show some concern. Try to impress on your children the dangers of alcohol abuse."

Some parents may not take vandalism seriously, he adds. "Parents may think it's cute to see a stop sign hanging in their son's or daughter's bedroom, but replacing that stop sign costs the taxpayer $65," Johnson explains. "Thefts are costly to everyone."

Often parents accuse the police of "picking on" their child, says the chief. "They tell us, 'What can you expect? There's no place for them to go in Andover,'" Johnson says.

"Well, I think this town offers an awful lot for young people, between the schools and the department of Community Services," he answers. "So I ask them, when was the last time you did anything with your child?"

Vandals' ages range from 12 to 18 years old, Johnson says, with the older children

Clamshell Group To Show Film

A film to benefit the Merrimack Valley Clamshell Alliance will be shown on Monday, May 12 at 7 p.m., at the Lawrence Public Library, 51 Lawrence St., Lawrence, (at the Northwest corner of the common, across from the Lawrence High School).

This film, Danger: Radioactive Waste, is a one-hour documentary exploring the unsolved problems involved in the disposal of radioactive waste. It examines both the military and commercial aspects of this issue, including a study of the first reprocessing plant in New York.

A discussion will follow the film and refreshments will be available. This is one of a series of films on the hazards of nuclear power being sponsored by the Merrimack Valley Clamshell Alliance.

Fidelio Society In Concert

The Music Department of Phillips Academy will present the Fidelio Society in a madrigal concert on Friday, May 9 at 7 p.m. in the Addison Gallery.

The program will include madrigals by the Renaissance composer Claudio Monteverdi, the "Liebeslied (Love Song) Waltzes" by Brahms, and Robert Schumann's "Dichterliebe" (Poet's Love).

The madrigals and the Brahms waltzes will be performed by the Fidelio Society, under the direction of Mrs. Susan Lloyd. This is a group of 15 very carefully selected singers. It is the oldest music group on Andover Hill and was established in 1886 at Abbot Academy. Its members have just returned from a two week tour in Europe, where they gave concerts with other Phillips Academy music groups.

Robert Lloyd, baritone, will be the soloist in the "Dichterliebe." He will be accompanied by Mr. Walter at the piano.

The public is invited to attend, and there is no charge for admission.

School Out May 16 For Seniors

The school committee has approved Friday, May 16, as early release day for "deserving" seniors.

At their meeting Tuesday night, they also set Thursday, June 19, as the official closing date for the rest of Andover's school youngsters.

Seniors who will be allowed to get out of school early — and thus have a better crack at getting a job to help toward college expenses — must have demonstrated "proper scholarship and attitude" to be eligible for the privilege. They cannot have been absent more than 30 days during three years at Andover High; they must have passing grades in all academic courses with no incompletes; and demonstrate school citizenship, with a disciplinary review by administrators.

Principal Philip Wormwood said he thought about 80 percent would be eligible.

School Committeemen Assigned

Many of the town's schools are exchanging principals next year, and they'll now be getting new school committee delegates as well.

School Chairman Elaine Viehmann Tuesday night named Committeeman Dick Neal liaison to West Elementary and South Schools; Joe Finn to East Jr. High and Bancroft; John Eaton, West Jr.

High and the Chapter 766 Parents Advisory Committee; Don Robb, the high school and the School Building Committee; and herself, Sanborn and Shawsheen Schools.

She also assigned Eaton and Neal to a new subcommittee to study school finances, and she and Finn will be serving on a central maintenance committee.

Decision On Funds Due May 20

With town meeting's vote of approval in hand, architect's for the $11 million school building project appeared before the state School Building Assistance Bureau (SBAB) Friday to apply for state funds.

The state bureau will make its decision May 20.

If the SBAB approves the three-part project, it will fund 50 percent of the principle and 20 percent of the interest on the town's bonds for the project.

The state has already granted the project priority funding (a preliminary determination), but required town meeting approval of the project before it would make a final determination.

Architects Perley F. Gilbert Associates of Lowell were to present the SBAB with all schematic drawings for the project approved by the building committee.

The building program calls for converting Doherty elementary school into a junior high to replace East junior high, using East's Memorial auditorium wing to house a gymnasium and auditorium; renovations at the high school, including the addition of a 1250-seat auditorium; and renovations at West junior high, including the addition of a new Instructional Materials Center (IMC).

Vacancy On Board Of Appeals

The selectmen are now seeking candidates for the position of associate member on the zoning board of appeals. The resignation of Chairman Albert Cullen, Jr. has created a vacancy on the board.

Blood Pressure Checks To Be Provided

health problems, and save lives. The Health Department within the Department of Community (Continued on Page 65)

Wetlands Walk Sunday

On Sunday May 11 at 1:30 p.m. the Andover Committee of the Appalachian Mountain Club is sponsoring a spring hike through Baker's Meadow. This area is well used by bird watchers as it contains a large variety of the species. It is hoped that the blue heron have returned from the south and also to be anticipated is the sound of the "Pog Pumper" which is the nickname for a bittern who nests near the pond in the summer. The sights and sounds of spring will be evident on this walk for these wetlands are an excellent example of a working and creative wildlife area. It serves the children of Andover as an outdoor classroom to heighten their indoor classwork.

An added highlight to the trip will be a stop at and a look around the West Parish Cemetery funeral chapel. Arthur Lewis, a member of the West Parish church, will be on hand to give historical background and to answer questions regarding the building.

Participants are to meet at the West Parish Church for the guided tour first and then to walk to Baker's Meadow. The trip leaders are Barbara Coffman and Lee Dodd. Contact them for any additional information needed. Wear proper clothing and footwear and bring bug spray or lotion.

Exchange Club Picnic

The Exchange Club of Andover is finalizing plans for its second annual community picnic which is open to the public Beginning immediately following the parade on Memorial Day, the picnic will be held in Andover Center in the Software International parking lot directly behind the police box. The menu will include hot dogs, hamburgers, fried chicken, beer, soft drinks, coffee, ice cream and other assorted treats.

The Exchange Club of Andover is an organization of businessmen who donate the proceeds of their activities to charitable organizations. Their charities have included Fidelity House, hearing and eye tests for Andover senior citizens and donations to various local church organizations.

The Women's nine-hole golf league meets every Saturday, May 10, 1980 Thursday morning at Trull Brook. Players are welcome. Contact Nancy Keefe, 1 Lovejoy Road, for further information.

Weekend Service Begun Bus Transfers Started

By Randolph W. Lehman-Becker
Andover's Representative To The Merrimack Valley
Regional Transit Authority

Sunday, April 27, at a minute after noon, the first weekend train service to Andover in more than a decade, stopped at the Andover Center station heading for Boston. That noon train, along with a 6:01 p.m. train on Sundays and holidays, are joined by a 10:01 a.m. train on Saturdays in addition. Outbound, the service now provides trains at 4:20, 6:20 and 11:59 p.m. on Saturday, and 6:20 and 11:59 p.m. on Sundays and holidays. Ballardvale also has the same service with arrivals and departures adjusted by four minutes to account for the distance.

Riders are reminded that the 11:59 p.m. train, on any occasion that there is a rock concert at the Boston Garden, will not run; a Boston and Maine Railroad policy to deal with rampant vandalism after such concerts, limits service to before 10 p.m. Often this would mean a 9:40 p.m. out-bound on those occasions.

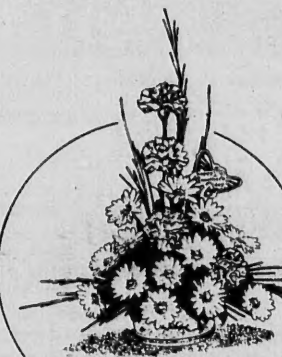

New schedules will be available at the library, town hall, and the Sunny Corner Farm store near the center station.

This week, the long-awaited transfer policy will go into effect, with the basic 30¢ local fare allowing one to transfer without charge to any of the local lines within the Greater Lawrence system. While one cannot transfer onto the Haverhill intercity bus, a transfer from that bus will be honored on local service at either Haverhill or Lawrence. Ask for a transfer if you plan to ride beyond your original route.

Bancroft Breakfast

The annual Bancroft PTO Pancake Breakfast will be on Saturday, May 10, at the school. Breakfast will be served from 8:30 a.m. and tickets will be available at the door. Mrs. Gay Raftery and Mrs. Joan Abramson are chairing this family event.

Dance Performance Concludes Andover Series

Concert Dance Company

The Concert Dance Company is rapidly becoming Boston's most famous export, picking up excellent reviews in New York and touring New England most successfully. What is especially nice about this company is its healthy sense of self; the dancers know what they are about; they are flexible but at the same time they maintain their own identity. Each work is approached as a unique enterprise, but with such remarkable ensemble that it quickly becomes the company's own. For professionalism and steady, visible growth, Boston really has nothing to compare with them.

The Concert Dance Company will perform in Andover on Sunday, May 18 at 7:30 p.m. in the West Junior High School Auditorium. The performance is offered with support from BayBank Merrimack Valley and Darling Associates, a division of The Norwood Group, Inc. This will be the final event of the Community Service Dept.'s 1980 Andover Series. Tickets are available at Thompson's, Cole's, Liggett's, Andover Savings Bank, and the Andover Department of Community Services, 36 Bartlet St.

A Concert Dance Company performance is an ideal introduction to modern dance for the skeptic who suspects that art from of being inaccessible and obscure. The company presents works by choreographers from all over the country. The style is meticulous and fresh, with a respect for the unique demands of each piece of choreography, and the technique is the most finished and uniform in Boston.

It is such a simple idea: get together eight good dancers and perform proven works by some of the best young modern dance choreographers. The company is a repertory company and its program offers an extensive and diverse selection of works ranging from the classic "Day on Earth" by Doris Humphrey through the unique acrobatics of "Pilobolus" and the contemporary and avant-garde offerings of Cliff Keuter, Bill Evans, Phoebe Neville and Anna Sokolow.

It is the only group now performing

Goose Eggs

The Canada geese population in the U.S. doubled between 1955 and 1974. Goose eggs hatch in less than a month; in two months the young are ready to migrate. Canada geese use a greater diversity of breeding habitat than any other species of waterfowl, Massachusetts Audubon says.

'Fiddler'

For the first time in Boston, Herschel Bernardi, the Broadway star will appear, live on stage, in the original Broadway production of the all awards-winning musical "Fiddler on the Roof." The strictly limited seven-week engagement will begin at the Music Hall, 268 Tremont St., Boston, on Tuesday, May 20 (through July 6).

Producer Eugene V. Wolsk has been meticulous in reassembling the winning ingredients which made the original production of "Fiddler" the all-time longest running show in Broadway history, for this massive new tour of North America, which will reach thirteen major cities over the next two years.

"Pilobolus" (the first work choreographed by the Dartmouth students who were to become Pilobolus Dance Theatre) what must have been one of the most delightful debut dances in history. It is essentially a two-dimensional dance, concerned with testing how many different configurations three bodies can make. A favorite section is the opening, when dim lighting makes the dancers appear literally two-dimensional; all we can see are their profiles constantly assuming ever more fantastic shapes.

The performance is funded in part by the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities.

In addition, Cris Holmes, Kathy Murphy, Sue Redgate, Jean Leuner, and Ronnie Haarmann will attend as observers as local League members from across the Commonwealth decide the nuts and bolts of state League budget and program emphasis.

Highlights of the league's council meeting will include a luncheon address by Evelyn Murphy, secretary of Environmental Affairs during the Dukakis administration, and presentation of a "Volunteer of the Year" award by the state League.

Joyce Robinson, president of the Andover League, emphasized the importance of this meeting to the local league. "Annually representatives from Andover join with representatives from the other 103 Leagues in Massachusetts to set direction for our statewide organization. This opportunity for grassroots decision making is an essential aspect of the League process. We find that volunteers who help make the decisions are more dedicated. And the League members who study, testify, and lobby, as well as those who perform our management functions, are all volunteers. That is why the Massachusetts League has designated this, our 60th anniversary year, 'the year of the volunteer.'"

DCS Offers Guided "Bike Hikes"

The (Andover) Department of Community Services is offering guided family "bike hikes" on Sunday afternoons during the month of May. Hikes are open to anyone over the age of 12 who can ride a multi-speed bike.

Participants meet at the rear of the East Junior High School at 2 p.m.. Rides are about 10 to 20 miles in distance and last about two hours. Each trip is moderately paced — about 8 to 12 miles per hour — and has stopping points that allow slower cyclists to catch up. Basic bike maintenance and safety will be reviewed before each trip.

The schedule for the rest of May:

May 11 — Groveland Loop — The group will head up Summer Street to North Andover, down Great Pond Road (views of the lake and beautiful mansions) thru West Boxford on a small portion of Rt. 133, down some back roads into a small corner of Haverhill. It proceeds thru Groveland, and back into West Boxford with a stop at a terrific homemade ice cream shop (the strawberries are in season!). The trip ends by way of Dale Street into North Andover and culminates with a rush down Chestnut Street in Andover.

May 18 — North Reading Loop — Passing through Phillips Academy to Salem Street, participants head for the Harold Parker State Forest coming out on Marblehead Road. The group will roll down Haverhill Street to the center of North Reading. Returning on Park and Central Streets to Gould, Old Country and Rattlesnake Hill Roads. Again Cyclists will "fly" down Ballardvale Road to a snack at a home made ice cream spot (notice how that creeps into all the rides!) ending again at the Jr. High.

May 24 — Billerica Loop — Participants will head over to Rt. 125 and go thru the center of Wilmington. Following Rt. 62 into Billerica the group will take a side road thru to Tewksbury returning to Andover on Dascomb Road. Sure enough that will bring everybody out at the ice cream place (see, it happened again!).

Route maps are provided for all participants and all of the rides can be shortened by one third or one half for those would rather bike 10 or 15 miles instead of 20. There will be at least two leaders so that one can lead the longer ride and one the shorter.

For further information, individuals should contact the DCS office.

Architectural Fees Worked Out

The town has now "ironed out" the terms and conditions of a contract with the architectural firm for the $11 million school building project, the town manager said Friday.

Terms of the contract with architect Perley F. Gilbert Associates, Inc. of Lowell, were worked out Thursday night during a meeting of the school building committee, and Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark.

Furthermore, the state's School Building Assistance Bureau (SBAB) agreed to reimburse the town for 50 percent of the architect's fees for work already accomplished during a Friday morning meeting, Clark said.

"One of the major concerns we've had was that (the architect's) cost figures for all the studies and preliminary plans they've done could be pulled together into a format acceptable to the SBAB," Clark explained.

The town held off payment of "a recent series of two or three bills" until the SBAB agreed on how the bills should be handled, said the town manager.

Questions about payment arose when the architect submitted a bill during March 1980, without specifying "which part of the project the bill was for," said Clark.

The architectural firm has developed preliminary plans to convert the Doherty school into a junior high, including renovation of the Memorial auditorium wing of East junior high; to renovate and add on to West junior high; and to renovate and add an auditorium to the high school.

"All work performed by the architect has now been put in the proper pigeonhole and verified by the SBAB this morning," Clark said Friday.

Under the terms of the newly-developed contract, also approved by the SBAB, Perley F. Gilbert Associates, Inc., will be compensated for 6.725 percent of the actual construction costs, plus equipment for the high school and West junior high construction projects, said Clark.

For work on the Doherty school, the architect will be paid 7.1 percent of the actual construction costs plus equipment, he said. The architect will be paid more for the Doherty conversion project because it will require "additional services", especially in the Memorial wing, Clark explained.

These figures are based on current cost estimates for the three-part project, according to the town manager, and may be adjusted after construction is completed.

Total cost of the architect's services for planning the project will be $720,000, appropriated by 1978 town meeting for planning the project, plus additional fees of at least $188,000 said Clark.

All planning fees are included in the $11 million total appropriated by 1980 town meeting for the school building project, he emphasized.

"This is obviously a lot of money," said Clark, "but in return we have received in excess of 60 different schematic designs for various schools, and various building project alternatives."

Among the alternatives planned and later discontinued were plans to renovate East junior high and to build a new junior high school, said the town manager.

Although they have been abandoned, these plans helped the building committee "to define the building program we have today, versus the one we had in April 1978," Clark said.

The architects also completed two additional studies: one on the cost of repairing East, and a cost-benefit analysis of using alternative schools as a junior high.

Because these studies aided the architect in planning the Doherty conversion, Clark said, Perley F. Gilbert Associates has agreed to give the town a $53,000 credit — 50 percent of the East study and 25 percent of the cost-benefit analysis — towards the firm's schematic design for Doherty.

"We probably could have saved some of this money (architect's total planning fees) if we had provided more planning funds to the school administration, even before 1978 town meeting," said the town manager.

However, even if the school administration had done pre-planning, school enrollment figures dropped so quickly that revisions in their plans, at additional cost, still would have been necessary, Clark added.

Babylon, N.Y. Library Honors Percy Proctor

THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 8, 1980

Percy M. Proctor, who moved from Babylon, N.Y. a year ago to make his home with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Romoe of 28 Summer St., was honored Sunday afternoon, when in exercises at the Babylon Public Library, two memorials were dedicated to him.

The first, made by the trustees of that library, was of a special room to known as the Percy M. Proctor Community Room.

The second was the establishment by the Babylon Rotary Club of the Percy M. Proctor Fund with an initial funding of $2,000 to be used to purchase books for a special shelf in the library.

Proctor served as president of the Trustees of that library for many years and was a leader in the successful campaign for the approval by Babylon voters several years ago of a bond issue to build the new library in which Sunday's exercises were held.

He is a charter member of the Babylon Rotary Club, a past president, and was previously honored by that club by being the first of its members to be chosen for the award of a Paul Harris Fellowship, a much coveted Rotarian award.

Since coming to Andover, Proctor has been active in pursuing a longtime hobby by writing weekly bulletins about astronomy which the Memorial Library duplicates and makes available to interested stargazers.

Mr. Proctor served as superintendent of schools in Babylon for 23 years, retiring in 1958. He is a graduate of Tufts College, class of 1913.

Play On Aging To Be Presented

Are you one of those who believes all old people act alike? Do you think that mental growth ceases at age sixty? What myths about aging do you support, consciously or unconsciously?

"Who's Counting?" is a one act play about aging which will be presented by the Friendly Visitor Program of Andover to help you distinguish between truth and myth.

The play will be produced by the Methuen High School Drama Club on May 13, at 7:30 in the evening at the Senior Center (the Haven) at 11 Essex St., Andover. Ms. Mary Jane Jennings will be the director.

Following the performance a discussion will be led by Brian Langdon, director of the Family Service Association of Greater Lawrence, to bring out the divergent points of view within the content of the play.

It is open to the public and refreshments will be served following the performance.

The Friendly Visitor Program of Andover invites everyone concerned about the attitudes and stereotyping of the aging to be present.

Vale Residents Ask More time

Asking for "just a little more time," a committee of Ballardvale residents Monday night asked the selectmen not to consider selling Bradlee School or the community center building until June 1.

Ballardvale residents want more time to study the possibility of building a new fire station with a branch library and community rooms in the Vale, said Sherron Heller, spokesman for the recently-formed Ballardvale Village Improvement Society.

Because the site of the present community center building, scheduled for demolition this summer because it is unsafe, is a possible site for the fire station, the residents asked that a study committee be appointed to consider the future of the site where the building now stands.

The residents asked that the building not be demolished until they can lease a Dale Street building from Charles Cronin for use as a temporary library. That lease is currently being considered, pending inspection by the town building inspector, said the town manager.

The residents also asked that the town retain the community center property after the building is demolished.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark said the new library on Dale Street, should it be established, would be a "reading room rather than a full-scale library, based on the size of the space, and possibly the building codes."

"Vale resident Bernice Haggerty of Andover Street expressed her concern that once the branch library was "diminished to a little reading room, there would be a problem with going back to a library. Having a library branch in Ballardvale is still our main concern," she said.

The Ballardvale committee asked that representatives of Community Services, the Historical Commission, planning board, the fire chief, the head librarian, and library trustees be on the study committee, along with five Vale residents.

The study committee would focus on "the future of Ballardvale," said Clark, and not just the two buildings currently in question. "We are trying to provide for the general improvement of Ballardvale," he explained.

Court Condition Deplored

The town's tennis courts have gone "to wrack and ruin," a local tennis coach complained to the selectmen Monday night.

But apart from asking residents who use the courts to help maintain them, there is little the town can do about it, he was told.

Tennis coach Joe Sweeney of 19 Cuba St. said he has been complaining to town authorities for years about the disrepair of tennis courts at the high school and West Junior High.

At the moment, gates are damaged, fences have holes in them, basketball backboards and poles are rusting, soil around the courts is eroding, and the courts are covered with broken glass and last fall's leaves, Sweeney said.

"The town has done a rotten job of caring for these facilities, which could be taken care of very easily," Sweeney said. "You could sweep up the courts when you put up the nets, and repair the fences. Those fences have not been repaired in ten years."

Public Works Director Bob McQuade agreed that the courts "need a lot of work. The town builds these things but doesn't maintain them."

However, he explained, the town has only one employee to handle all maintenance of town recreational property, creating "a serious problem. We argued at town meeting for summer help," but that budget item was voted down, McQuade pointed out.

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark agreed: "With only one person in Community Services responsible for maintenance, if we do one job, we have to let something else go."

McQuade and Clark both said that residents who use the courts should help maintain them, as do residents who use the soccer and Little League baseball fields.

"It is the policy of (the selectmen) that people should do more of the work," Clark explained.

Variance Asked To Continue Building

Triangle Realty Trust, a firm which imports, packages and distributes olives to a variety of markets, petitioned the Andover Zoning Board of Appeals last week for a variance to build on a foundation they've constructed at 10 Lowell Junction Road.

The issue centers around a bylaw which sets a 300 minimum distance between an industrial building and the nearest residence.

Attorneys for Trico, as the firm is called, and for residents Philip Wormwood of 11 Junction Road and John Thompson of 13 Lowell Junction Road, are to file legal memoranda with the board this week and a decision should be forthcoming by mid-June.

Trico, which must vacate its present Wilmington quarters in September, purchased land in the I-A zone last fall, received a permit for the foundation in December, and proceeded.

Wormwood and Thompson then petitioned the board of appeals to enforce the 300-foot restriction (Wormwood's house is 150 feet from the new foundation). The board ruled that the bylaw did, in fact apply, and revoked the building permit.

Trico in turn appealed that decision to Essex Superior Court, where the case is scheduled to be heard tomorrow, and also applied for a variance that would allow them to proceed in spite of the bylaw.

Philip Sullivan, attorney for the firm, told the appeals board last Thursday that the typography of the property is such that the building couldn't be situated 300 feet away from Wormwood's house and still meet other zoning requirements. He said the "three small businessmen" involved had already invested more than $200,000 in land and construction, and that if they couldn't build that building they couldn't build anything.

He cited the case of Reichhold Chemicals, which received a variance last September for an addition on its Lowell Junction plant, within 300 feet of the Wormwood house.

He said the board claimed then that trees and shrubs provided the necessary screening, and added that while Trico would provide and maintain trees and shrubs, the height of the property would serve as a screen as well.

Appeals Board Chairman Wesley E. Whitney noted that in the Reichhold case, the addition extended only 10 feet into the 300-foot buffer distance, instead of 150 feet, as Trico's.

Richard Moody of the board added that in the Reichhold case the addition was very well screened and the residence in question was practically a summer camp, not a lived-in home.

"We're very deeply concerned about your plight," he told the Trico representatives. "We hurt for you too." But he said it would have been better if they had come to the board earlier.

"Now we're sitting paradoxically," Moody said. "We're being asked to reverse ourselves within a month, when what we did a month ago is now about to be decided in court. We can't look in two directions at once."

Sullivan said he couldn't answer what this was going to do to the court case, and suggested the board look at it as a separate variance.

"If we grant the variance, it renders moot the court case," Moody replied.

Wormwood and Thompson's attorney, John Bryden, asked if the petitioners were denying that there was any industrial building that could go on the property.

"Not one suited for the owner's business," Sullivan said.

"But a usable industrial structure could go there," Bryden added, and suggested that they could ask for a variance from the industrial zone to put residential homes there instead.

Bryden urged the board not to nullify the intent of the 300-foot bylaw. He said the

WHY PAY 1/3 OF YOUR FOOD BILL FOR THINGS YOU CAN'T TAKE HOME?

At conventional supermarkets, you pay plenty for frills...extras like expensive shelving and fancy decor, check-cashing services, bags and bundle boys. At the new Heartland Jr., we don't have those extras, so you don't pay for them.

What you do pay for...the groceries you take home...you save plenty on. That's because every item in the store is on special... bought by us at dramatic savings from top-brand manufacturers and processors. Then we pass the savings directly on to you. You get the same nationally advertised products you find at conventional supermarkets, at incredibly low Heartland Jr. prices.

Don't take our word for it. Here's what Mrs. Mary Katis of North Andover says about shopping at Heartland Jr.:

"People come from all around as they discover that Heartland Jr. in Andover is an alternative. With a big family you have to look for savings and quality. That's why I come here, 'cause I know I'm going to save on each item."

Time Will Tell

Seventh-grade creative writing students at St. Augustine's School buried a time capsule in the convent yard May 1. Registered at town hall, the capsule is to be dug up on May 1, 2080. Buried in the capsule are students' letters describing life in our times, said writing teacher Mrs. Patricia Sullivan. Computers, recreation, sports, and fashion are among the topics of the letters. Also included are copies of students' letters to the hostages in Iran, written last November; artifacts such as coins, stamps, Sesame Street puppets and TV Guide; and last week's edition of the Townsman. The red-and-white striped capsule was painted by art students in Sister Madelaine's class. Shown burying the capsule are James Veilleux of 137 Haggett's Pond Road and Sheila Farrington of 7 Charlotte Drive, as Mrs. Sullivan looks on.

Childhood Screening Program To Be Offered

Andover schools and the Andona Society are offering developmental screening to Andover children three through five years old.

Appointments can be made by calling the Early Childhood Department in Andover Schools. Screening includes vision, hearing, a developmental interview with a parent, a speech and language screening, and a developmental screening. The process takes about one hour. The screening will take place from 9 to 3 p.m. the week of May 19 at South Church.

Early Childhood Screening is performed in order to identify children who might profit from the early educational intervention or from medical treatment. Screening can be utilized preventively to identify the potential existence of a problem or disability in a child at a very early stage. Many chronic conditions, such as vision and hearing problems, are characterized by long "silent periods" that precede the point when symptoms become apparent. Screening serves as a means for uncovering these conditions and it should contribute to reducing the number of children who experience failure and who need special services in later school years.

On May 29 at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Hall Library a meeting will be held for parents who would like to discuss the screening process. Questions regarding the use of results, the screening procedure, and follow-up programs will be discussed. All parents who have questions or suggestions following the screening are urged to attend.

In most cases, screening acts as a reassurance to parents that growth and development are progressing normally.

All participants will receive a written comment on performance or a conference if further information is needed.

Children who missed pre-kindergarten or pre-first grade screening may also make appointments for South Church.

WESTern Roundup

and dance groups for the Variety Show. The theme, "The 1950's — American Bandstand" is being carried out in all the numbers. Some of the acts include: Rock Around the Clock, Peppermint Twist, Let the Good Times Roll, and Freddy My Love.

Church Has Sole

In a switch from the usual, the Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover is more concerned with soles than souls.

A member of the church, in closing up a seasonal shop at the New Hampshire Shore that sold leather goods, donated the stock of shoes, belts, purses, and some boots to the church. The church also got the cash register, and some store display equipment.

"Someone started talking about hundreds of soles, and I jumped to a conclusion," said the Rev. Randy Lehman-Becker, co-minister of the church, "but when they added that alot of heels were coming too, I became suspicious."

The more than 500 pairs of shoes, mainly women's summer models, have become a church project, with members of all ages taking part in a sorting project to get the pairs together once again. Now that they are together, the congregation is hoping that people in the community will be interested in providing homes for the wayward soles. Saturday, May 10, the shoes and equipment will all be part of a giant, all-church garage sale at the church.

To Honor Retiring Rector

Rev. J. Edison Pike

The Parish of Christ Church, Andover, is sponsoring a reception for the Rev. and Mrs. J. Edison Pike on Saturday, May 31, at the Christian Formation Center, River Road, Andover.

Rev. Mr. Pike, who began his ministry at Christ Church over 20 years ago, is retiring as rector Dec. 31 and will be on leave as of June 1. The reception, beginning at 7:30, is open to the public. Tickets may be purchased at Glebe House, 33 Central St., and at the Thrift Shop on Park Street. Hors d'oeuvres and live entertainment are provided.

Before coming to Christ Church, in September 1959, Mr. Pike served as Rector of St. James Church, Keene, N.H., and Trinity Church, Branford, Conn. He had also been a chaplain in the US Air Force, a curate at All Saints Church, Worcester, and had taken degrees at Boston University and the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge.

Under Mr. Pike's leadership, Christ Church has developed many pastoral and educational programs and has made a large commitment to community outreach in the Greater Lawrence area. The Christ Church Professional Nursery for the Handicapped, founded in 1973, and the Greater Lawrence Early Intervention Program, founded in 1978, are wholly owned institutions of the Church. The Sunday Forums, following 9:30 and 10:30 services, have become important occasions for the presentation of local and national issues. # To Observe Marian Evening

THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 8, 1980

The Christian Formation Center, River Road, West Andover, will dedicate Monday, May 12, as "An Evening in May with Mary." The observance will begin at 7 p.m. with a lecture on Mary, the Mother of God, in the light of the New Testament, in Tradition and in Today's Church. It will be followed by a Reconciliation Service at 7:45 and a Concelebrated Liturgy, with a homily, at 8 p.m.

Fr. Romano Almagno, O.F.M., noted lecturer, will conduct the evening observance and will be assisted by the Franciscan Friars who staff the Christian Formation Center and those who operate the St. Francis Seminary House of Prayer.

Father Almagno will focus on the role of the Mother of God in the Salvation History of mankind.

In the Catholic Church, May, the most beautiful month in the year, has always been dedicated to Mary. Vatican II documents clearly define the special veneration owing her for her participation in Christ's Redemptive act.

Admission to the lecture is free. Free-will offerings will be accepted after the Mass Liturgy, which will then be followed by refreshments.

Clown Town Coming

Clown Town, an annual event sponsored by the Andonna Society, is due 9:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m. Saturday, May 17 at the playstead. Planning the event to raise money for Andover youth are, from left, Rachel Thompson, 11 Sheffield Circle; Barbara Egan, 13 Partridge Hill Road; Gail DerAnanian, 1 Dean Circle; and Judy Malakoff, 87 Central St.

New Clown Town Editions

Once again it is almost time for the biggest Andona affair. Clown Town members have been working for months in preparations for the event, which is being held this year Saturday May 17 from 9:30-4:30 at the Andover Playstead.

Chairmen for this year are: Gail Deranian, Barbara Egan, Rachel Thompson, Judy Malakoff, along with their committee chairmen they have successfully invented various new and exciting editions to the spectacular day. Added to the clown hats and puppets this year will be hand made soccer balls and toothballs.

There will be a new and exciting soccer game which will appeal to the somewhat older children, with various prizes such as soccer balls, t-shirts, tickets to Baskin-Robbins, certificate to the Gap and numerous records.

There will be a cake raffle at the bakery table, there will be different, and more rides including a ferris wheel, and the fire engine is back this year. Pictures will be available also at the make-up booth and the pony ride. For those who are dieting along with hot dogs and hamburgers this year a new edition will feature Syrian subs.

The Big Top Show this year will feature Paul Vincent Davis Repertory Puppets from Brookline Village Puppet Showplace. He is a full time professional performer and is now a permanent part of Boston's cultural life. He brings to his audiences a positive theatre experience through the art of the puppet. The plays are live so he can communicate directly to his audience. The beautifully sculptured puppets colorful costumes, settings and lights and the appropriate use of classical and traditional folk music and at once entertainment, education and theatre.

THE TOWNSMAN, MAY 8, 1980

30 Founder Of Local YMCA Program Dies

Richard P. Cate, the man whose name was synonymous with "Y" work in the Merrimack Valley, died Sunday at the Lawrence General Hospital following a long illness.

Cate, 67, of 4 Ingalls Terrace, Plaistow, N. H., retired as executive director of the Andover-North Andover YMCA after guiding the facility through two fundraising drives and its first 10 years of existence.

Born in Beverly, he was a professional "Y" worker since 1926 when he taught his first swim class as a paid instructor at the West Springfield YMCA, where his father was director.

Although he was an honor student in math and science in high school, a runner-up for a Thomas Edison scholarship to MIT and had a chance to go to the University of Vermont Medical School, Cate often said he never intended "to do anything but go into the 'Y' — I was brought up in it."

Cate came to the Lawrence YMCA as physical director in 1946 and developed the swimming program into the biggest in New England. John Menzies, now executive director of the Lawrence Boys' Club, noted at the time of Cate's retirement testimonial dinner in 1977 that Cate "served as a role model which has helped me to realize the importance of service to the youth of the community."

Douglas N. Howe, president of Howe Real Estate Agency in Andover, who served as president of the Board of Directors of the Andover facility in 1968, said this morning, "Dick Cate lived a life without compromise, dedicated to the principles of the YMCA."

The widower of Patricia (Whalen) Cate, he is survived by daughters, Sally A. Cate of Lawrence, Mrs. Louie (Sandra) Whipple of Derry, N.H., and Mrs. Ronald (Nancy) Haigh of Londonderry, N.H.; sons, Richard P. Cate, Jr. of West Moreland, N.H., Barry J. Cate of Madison, Wisc., Scott P. Cate of Plaistow, N.H., and Christopher R. Cate of Lawrence; his father, Murray E. Cate of Ossipee, N.H.; sisters, Mrs. James T. (Barbara) Mazzanti of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Mrs. Henry (Evelyn) Kyle of Burlington, Vt.; a brother, Murray E. Cate Jr. of Methuen; 10 grandchildren, two great-grandchildren and several nieces and nephews.

A family funeral service was held Monday from the R. George and John D. Caron Funeral Home, 30 Main St., North Andover. Cremation took place in Linwood Crematory, Haverhill, followed by interment in the Plaistow Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made in his memory to the Andover-North Andover YMCA, 165 Haverhill St., Andover, Mass.

She attended William and Mary's Institute in Library Science in 1929 and 1930.

She joined the Phillips Academy library staff in 1929 and was in charge of circulation in the then-new Oliver Wendell Holmes Library. In 1951 she was appointed librarian of Phillips Academy and continued as its director until she retired from the library and the faculty in 1963. After leaving Andover, she became head of circulation at the Amherst College Library, then spent a year and a half as librarian at Deerfield Academy, assembling and organizing the collection for the Deerfield library, then under construction. In 1966 she retired to Williamsburg, Va.

She leaves no immediate family, but several nieces and nephews as well as friends in Andover, Deerfield, and Amherst.

A Perfect Day For Flying Kites

The department of Community Services' annual Kite Flying Contest brought contestants of all ages to the Shawsheen Field this past Sunday afternoon.

Under clear skies and with gale-like breezes at their backs, participants tested their skills on a day that proved to be quite challenging even for the more experienced kite flier. The event offered individuals opportunities to show-off their kite flying and artistic skills as well as a chance to enjoy the great spring weather available this past weekend. Kites of various shapes, sizes and colors managed to become airborne on a day when it was more challenging to maintain control of your kite than to get it up in the air.

Both Justin Townsend and Chris Blongiewicz lost their kites in a stiff breeze that tore their controls away from them.

The day, however, belonged to Richard Chojecki and Bob Reichert who brought three home made kites to the event and flew each one with great expertise. One of their diamond kites featured a tail over 200 feet long.

Winners in the contest's categories were:

Apologies Asked As Singers Miss Festival

Andover High's Madrigals and A Capella singers were all dressed up to go off to a state competition Saturday, and alas, their rides never came.

The new American Choral Directors' Massachusetts Festival is over for the year, but parents are asking the school committee to get to the bottom of the slip-up and make apologies to the proper parties.

Choral Director Keith Gould has also asked for ideas on "where we can take these kids," who worked long and hard for "the biggie of the year," only to be disappointed.

In a letter read to the school committee Tuesday night, Gould said the competition was equivalent "to a state track meet or a basketball playoff." He said the two buses were ordered through the proper channels on Jan. 29, and two $60 fees paid (one by the Band Choral Parents Association and one from Music Department funds). He had also ordered $48 worth of music in January.

Gould said that when the buses were confirmed on April 30, the departure time was changed from 8 to 11:30 a.m.

Bruce Taylor, president of the Choral Parents Association explained in another letter, that more than 80 youths arrived at 10:30 a.m. Saturday for special rehearsal and their 11:30 take-off. But the buses never came.

He said they had to forfeit their place in the festival, as well as the funds.

He said the association believed that every person involved should receive a letter of explanation from the proper channels, and that the music department and the choral parents should be reimbursed for the deposits they put out.

He also asked that a letter be sent to the organizers of the festival, explaining the mixup, so the Andover group won't be snubbed next time around.

"I feel certain that if it had been an important athletic event," he concluded, "the buses would have been there."

School Committeeman John Eaton, who read the letters as committee secretary, said he had heard that one bus driver had tried to call the school but couldn't get through because of the new central switchboard set-up.

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said that he had seen two purchase orders: one for 8 a.m. and another, a handwritten change, for 11:30 a.m. However, he went on, Transportation Assistant Sam Arcidy said he had never seen the change.

Seifert said it was his understanding that the buses had arrived at 8 and waited about half an hour before going on, and that at least one of the drivers had tried to contact the school later on in the morning.

School Chairman Elaine Viehmann called it "about as unfortunate a situation as there could possibly be," and suggested that Seifert "persist" with the investigation until he got to the bottom of it.

Gould, who said it was not "the purpose (of his appearance in person Tuesday night), to point the finger at anyone." However, he admitted that under the new purchasing procedure, he had a feeling that this sort of thing could happen. He said they felt much better under the former system, where they called the drivers directly, and asked that the committee reconsider the procedure.

Mixed Media

The May 14 meeting of the Reading Art Association at the Reading Community Center, Sanborn Street, Reading, at 8 p.m. features the return of Valfred Thelin, A.N.A., A.W.S., recently home from a painting tour of China. Thelin, who has participated in art seminars in Mexico and six European countries, uses mirrors in his unusual demonstration procedure which permits a complete view of his painting.

Although he will be working in mixed media, Mr. Thelin's demonstration will convey more than a literal procedure.

Construction Dust

Bob Wetterberg of 85 Lowell St. surveys his car, covered with a sandy dust that comes from construction at the Andover Country Club development, he says. Wetterberg says Sunday's high winds coated the cars in his front driveway with dust, along with his lawn, shrubs, and backyard swimming pool. With the development located behind his lot, between Canterbury Street and Chandler Circle, Wetterberg says the dust has been a problem since development of the land last fall.

Farm Building Demolition Annoying To Historians

By Sue Aucella Deacon

One of six buildings on the Shattuck farm complex in Andover Tech Park was torn down Monday morning, without advance notice to the Historical Commission. The commission had believed that nothing would be done in the area for at least five weeks, a planner for the commission told the selectmen Monday night.

Wendy Frontiero, preservation planner for the Historical Commission, said Tuesday it was "rather annoying" that the developer demolished the building, a carriage house, without notice to the commission.

"The building was not of great architectural significance, but it was important in the evolution of the farm," Frontiero said. "I emphasized to the developer last week that I was interested in documenting the farm complex as a whole."

Frontiero and other historical commission members met last week with representatives of Arkwright-Boston Insurance Co., developer of Tech Park. At that time, Arkwright agreed to delay digging a 25-ft. wide drainage ditch for five weeks, to allow the commission time for an archaeological study of the area.

The future of six buildings in the farm area was also a concern of the commission; three buildings would be located in front of the ditch, and three of lesser significance — including the carriage house — would be behind the ditch.

Frontiero said she left the meeting believing that no work would be done in the area for five weeks.

However, during a visit to the site Monday morning with an archaeologist, Frontiero discovered a bulldozer destroying the carriage house to make way for the ditch.

"Why was this building destroyed and carted away?" asked Selectman Norma Gammon during Monday night's selectmen's conference session. "We've lost a building this week — will we lose another one next week? And didn't that bulldozer disturb the artifacts in the ground?"

Rhys Kear, director of community planning and development, replied that he did not "even know who did it." Kear added that a permit to raze the building "probably had not been issued."

Arkwright representatives met with Frontiero Tuesday morning, and explained that they had believed the historical commission had wanted only to delay digging of the ditch, to protect artifacts.

Arkwright also had believed the historical commission was only interested in saving the three buildings in front of the ditch, which are a farmhouse, a country store, and a house known as an ice cream stand, said Frontiero.

"We did try to express our interest in documenting the entire complex," Frontiero told the selectmen. "There may have been a misunderstanding with Arkwright, but it's still rather annoying that they destroyed a building with no notice to us at all," she added Tuesday.

A cottage standing next to the carriage house is also scheduled to be destroyed in the next three to four weeks, Frontiero said, to make way for the ditch. "I would like to document that building also," she said.

No other buildings are scheduled for destruction, she added.

After meeting with Frontiero Tuesday,

Arkwright agreed to relocate the ditch so that it will be 20 feet away from the three main buildings, she said. The ditch was originally planned to be only five or ten feet away, she said, which is a "hot spot" for artifacts.

Frontiero told the selectmen she hopes the three main buildings can be restored and reused, although the location of the ditch makes reuse on the present site "unlikely, because it's not the most wonderful landscaping."

Digital Equipment Corp., which currently holds an option on the land in question, may one day reuse the buildings as part of its industrial complex, she said.

Arkwright last week agreed to study the feasibility of moving the buildings from the site. The town will fund part of that study, said Kear.

The town and the developer "have worked long and hard on saving the (three main) buildings," Kear said Monday night, "by locating the trench to give maximum flexibility with the buildings." Development of the site will not effect those buildings for "a couple of years," he added.

Young Is Nice But Older Is Better

By Linda S. Corbett

"They say it's nice to be young," William A. Doherty, for whom Doherty Elementary School will be renamed Doherty Jr. High, told the school committee Tuesday night.

"But there comes a time, Everett," he turned to J. Everett Collins, "when it's nice to be old, too."

"Sure is," replied Collins, who will be similarly honored himself.

Committeeman Joseph Finn subsequently made the official motion to name the new high school auditorium after Collins, "in recognition of your contributions to the town as a whole and to the school system in particular."

Collins, he said, had been a member of the school committee for four years, selectman for 21 and state representative for 14; founder of the Andover Male Choir and a leader in other community groups. He has worked with Andover High choral groups for many years and a member of the Andover Athletic Hall of Fame, he has also been active in youth sports.

School Chairman Elaine Viehmann noted that she had sung under him and known him only as a musician. She commented on "the majesty of your own voice," as well as his "musicianship."

"No one," she said, "is more appropriate to be so honored."

Committeeman Richard Neal said that the thing that always impressed him the most was that Collins didn't just take a place at a scheduled time in the school, but was there "forever...whether it was with the hockey team at Phillips Academy when it was 20 below, or out watching hundreds of other endeavors around town."

Collins said he appreciated "more than you'll ever know, your kindness to me, and my eternal thanks for this great honor."

He said that when he heard the news at a surprise birthday party a couple of weeks ago, he was "floored. I never expected anything like this to happen to J. Everett Collins.

"I hope that I'm worthy," he concluded.

Doherty was labeled by Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert as "a truly fiscal conservative, with a very good view to the future."

Seifert said that when he was hired as superintendent, there was only one negative vote: Doherty's. But he said, Doherty took him to lunch soon after he arrived and they've gotten along ever since.

Doherty explained Tuesday night that at that time, he felt strongly they should "move up someone from the system."

Doherty thanked the committee "individually and collectively" for this honor and added that it was "very difficult for me to go to a school committee meeting and keep my mouth shut." He went on to praise the "fine educational system" and the "new building program."

His only regret, he said later, "is that it's not much bigger, with a field house and new playing fields. We need a swimming pool. We need an indoor track. We need a hockey rink.

"It's 1980 and we have the girls now," he said, concluding that as a schoolman "you're never satisfied. There's always more to do. You have to plant the seed and you have to fertilize it and you have to make it grow."

Viehmann noted that her oldest two children had gone to Central Elementary School, but that by the time her youngest two came along, it had become William A. Doherty Elementary, in honor of a man "who has done a lot for education in the town of Andover."

Neal noted his lengthy tenure (39 years) on the school committee, and she said that conversion of the school makes the renaming "no less deserving."

He called Doherty "one of the Andover School System's greatest supporters."

Of Honors Earned

If we were to mention at the outset that we join in the tribute to Collins, Collins and Doherty, one might get the impression that a firm was being honored.

In a sense the three names do represent a firm, but J. Everett Collins, Richard J. Collins and William A. Doherty all pursue different courses in life.

The one thing they have in common is a dedication to public service which has been recognized this past week.

J. Everett Collins and William A. Doherty have been recognized for their public service by the school committee which will honor them with the naming of new buildings which will result from the recently-approved construction program.

Dick Collins has been honored by his peers, so to speak, by being selected as the Region 1 track coach of the year, one of five to be recognized throughout the country.

The honors, announced a week ago, were made official at this week's school committee meeting.

For all three men, it is a fitting tribute.

J. Everett Collins has a long history of public service to the town of Andover.

He has served in town government and also represented Andover and neighboring communities in the state legislature.

While music is his forte, Collins also excelled in athletics, as evidenced by his induction into the Andover Athletic Hall of Fame a few years ago.

But, it is his love of music for which the townspeople most recognize J. Everett, better known to his current tutelages as "Uncle John."

Collins this past Christmas season, directed the "Messiah," for the 50th time. He has been director of the Andover Male Choir and the Andover Choral Society for that period of time.

His career has spanned a period from choir boy at Christ church to Andover's "Music Man," and it is indeed fitting that the new auditorium to be built at the high school, will bear his name.

Bill Doherty has served in many capacities in the town, but none with more dedication than his almost 40 years as a member of the school committee.

His school committee career began when, as a newspaperman, he campaigned on open meetings, a problem even in those days. While it may seem that editorial tribute is based on that accomplishment, we recognize more his continued efforts on behalf of providing good education programs and buildings for Andover's youngsters.

When he retired from the school committee several years ago, the board fittingly decided to rename the Central school in his honor.

Now, the Doherty is to close and be renovated into a junior high to replace the present East Junior High. It is appropriate that the school board continue the honor by continuing the designation and "graduating" Bill in recognition of "a fine person and public servant."

Dick Collins has been a teacher-coach in Andover for over 20 years.

While winning records in sports is important, it has not always been the prime mover in the life of the man who has directed football and track at Andover High.

In addition to imparting the knowledge of the sports he directs, Collins has built character in the young men under his direction. He has been the recipient of many personal honors and his teams have accorded him state titles over the years.

The most recent recognition, track coach of the year in Region One, nationally, is another well-earned tribute.

We proudly join in the public recognition of those whose service to Andover has been so exemplary.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — May 1905

The firemen received their annual salary on Monday.

The beautiful observation car of the Boston & Northern street railway company bearing the mayors of several cities and newspapermen, passed through Andover over the Haverhill and Andover line last Sunday afternoon. The trip was made for the purpose of sightseeing through the valley of the Merrimack river.

The Andover Cricket team will go to Lawrence to play the second game of the League series on the Merrimack Street grounds.

50 Years Ago — May 1930

Edwin Hadley, a pupil in the eighth grade of the Stowe School and son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Hadley of Wolcott street, won first prize in the finals as well as first prize in his grade at the annual Lincoln Spelling Match held in the town hall last Friday evening.

A small Salvation Army bank was taken from the counter of the Andover Candy Kitchen some time Sunday night, according to a report made to the police.

The Andover Historical Society having been supplied with a fine old four-posted bed would like the gift or loan of old hand-woven linen sheets, also two pillows, not more than 16 inches wide, as the old linen slips are narrow.

Firemen were called to extinguish flames at the ice houses at Pomp's Pond at 6:35 p.m. Monday. The ice houses were burned to the ground nearly two weeks ago and firemen have returned to the scene nearby every day since to wet down the ruins.

Installation of traffic control signals at Wilson's corner, scene of many serious accidents in the past, commenced a few days ago under the direction of the public works department.

25 Years Ago — May 1955

In behalf of the Junior Garden Club, Mrs. Ernest Wilkinson has received an award for accumulating the record number of hours in Junior Garden club participation. The $10 is in the form of a credit toward the purchase of books for future use.

Highway department vacations will be taken in August of 1956, with a poll of workers to determine which two weeks in the month. Reason: more time in July to finish tarring roads, as a skeleton crew is retained during the present July vacation period.

The selectmen have accepted an invitation to take part in Little League opening day ceremonies.

Trot fishing enthusiasts who are 12 years old or younger can hardly wait for the sixth annual trout derby of the Andover Sportsman's Club this weekend.

A strong possibility that first and second grade students here will not get polio vaccine this spring was voiced this week. Dr. William V. Emmons, chairman of the board of health, flatly stated that the board is seriously considering postponement of the vaccinations until fall if a supply of the Salk serum is not on hand by the end of next week.

10 Years Ago — May 1970

Due to an increased work load placed on personnel in the public works department, there will be no cleanup week this year.

The Reichhold Chemical Company has been notified by the Division of Water Resources that it is discharging inadequately treated wastes into the water of the Shawsheen River, in contravention of the standards of the Clean Waters Act of 1966.

The Public Safety Center on North Main Street is now substantially complete and plans for moving in are underway.

Harnet Bethel Stewart, wife of Angus Stewart, former residents of Westwind Road in Andover, will return to town via television. On May 19, 20 and 21, she competes with three other contestants on the program "Hollywood Squares."

The Route 93 connector to the Lawrence Industrial Park and downtown Lawrence is still in the basic stage and any definitive plans are some time away, according to Commissioner of Public Works Edward J. Ribbs.

Somoza's Alone In Exile in Paraguay

By Jack Anderson and Joe Spear

WASHINGTON -- Up until about a year ago, we used to expose two tyrants with regularity. One was the shah of Iran; the other was Nicaragua's dictator, Anastasio Somoza. Both were overthrown in 1979.

All the world knows what has happened to the shah. But Somoza has faded from sight. The State Department has stopped keeping up with him. Indeed, he hasn't been mentioned in the secret cables for months.

Somoza is hiding out in Paraguay, a police state run by a sympathetic dictator, General Alfredo Stroessner. Eye witnesses say that the former Nicaraguan strongman has become bloated; he is often drunk and chronically morose. He is described by our sources as a lonely, bitter man.

His wife has left him; she prefers Miami. Even his once-faithful mistress, who accompanied him to Paraguay, has abandoned him. She became fed up with Paraguay when she was shunned by the social set. So she took off in a huff.

Most of Somoza's relatives have also broken with him. He left many of them financially strapped when he left Nicaragua. He made off with millions, but he has refused to share the loot with his family. His sister, for example, was stuck with huge debts when Somoza fell. But he refused to bail her out.

The former dictator has no one but himself for company. He keeps in touch with the world by mail, which is routed through the home of a former Nicaraguan colonel in the Paraguayan capital.

Meanwhile, Somoza spends his days drinking and brooding.

WORRIED WORKERS: Jimmy Carter's name has become a dirty word at the AFL-CIO. The union's leaders blame Carter's erratic economic policies for the sharp rise in unemployment.

The president has been juggling the economic levers to push up prices. He hoped this would discourage spending and slow down the economy. He thought a mild recession would then pull prices back down.

But contrary to Carter's expectations, the big corporations have not reduced prices. They have cut back production instead. They have closed plants and laid off workers.

Meanwhile, the president got the recession he wanted. The unemployment rate is over 6 percent, as the nation slides into a recession. In fact, some recessions have never surpassed 6 percent unemployment at their worst.

The AFL-CIO economists expect Carter's policies to cost half a million jobs before the end of the year. Other experts predict unemployment will hit 9 percent.

Statistics always sound impersonal. But those numbers have faces. They are living, breathing people. They are also voters. Who will they vote for? Our union sources say it won't be Jimmy Carter.

KREMLIN HOGWASH: If America's allies join in an economic boycott of Iran, the Soviets say they are prepared to make up for the loss of Western commerce. But U.S. analysts say the Russian claim is hogwash.

The Russians and their Eastern bloc satellites could not supply Iran, simply because the logistical problems are virtually insurmountable. There are limited rail lines between the two countries, and they are already congested. Road capacity is also limited, and many of the Kremlin's trucks are busy conveying equipment to Afghanistan.

Even with a massive airlift, say our sources, the Iranians would be sure to feel the pinch of a boycott.

DRIVING AND DOPE: For years, members of the whiskey generation have been urged not to drink and drive. Soon, members of the pot and Pepsi generation will be offered similar advice: Don't smoke marijuana and drive.

Studies conducted by the National Institute on Drug Abuse indicate that persons who have smoked pot within two to three hours prior to driving have a greater chance of becoming involved in an accident than those who do not.

Law enforcement officials will soon be able to determine whether a person involved in an accident is under the influence of pot. This can soon be done through a simple, roadside saliva test. Insiders say the test will be administered nationwide within the year.

GIVEAWAY BATTLE: The great battle of the giveaways between the branches of the armed forces continues without a ceasefire. Those who request recruitment propaganda will receive pens, pencils and bumper stickers from either the Army, the Navy, the Air Force or the Marine Corps. In addition, the Navy offers free key chains and the Marines hand out iron-on patches embossed with a likeness of their mascot -- a bulldog.

WATCH ON WASTE: Fifteen years ago, Congress appropriated $75 million for the construction of an additional building for the expanding Library of Congress. The library's new James Madison building still isn't completed, and the cost has nearly doubled to $135 million. Here's what some of that money from the taxpayers has gone for: A $24,000 sculptural fountain, two $4,000 bronze medallions and a $100,000 statue of the building's namesake, James Madison.

Fishing Workshop At High School

On Friday, May 9, the department of Community Services along with the Massachusetts division of Fisheries and wildlife will be sponsoring the third in a series of four workshops on fishing. The staff of the Urban Angler program, which includes Bob Rifchin, Bob Nutter and his son Bobbie (Andover residents), Jerry Dwyer, Dee Weidig, Katherine Rifchin and Ilo Howard, will review the different types of fishing tackle available for fresh water use.

Special emphasis will be placed on use and care of the equipment so one's investment provides many years of service and enjoyment. Those attending are encouraged to bring their own "fishing gear" so that they may better learn how to use and care for it — and problems that have arisen in its previous use can be corrected. Tackle preparation is one of the most important aspects in fishing and that will be covered with special instruction on an individualized basis will include knot tying, spooling line, and other pertinent "tips."

On The Soccer Fields

By She Livermore

The Stingers won their first victory points thisweek in a contest with Gloucester FYS and the Stoppers suffered their first loss to a strong Topsfield team. Elsewhere the Sweepers continue to sweep all competition as they chalked up their fourth straight victory. Brief results of all of the games follow below:

Under 10 Division:

Rifles 0, Riddlers 0

The Rifles dominated the first quarter and made numerous shots on the nets, all of them blocked by the superior goal tending of Scott Livermore. The embattled Riddlers met the challenge throughout the rest of the Play as both teams worked hard to score the elusive goal. Goalie Jim O'Hara made some great saves for his team in the third quarter, and with a scoreless fourth quarter, the match ended in a hard fought tie, with both teams splitting the points. ESB: Mike Faraci and Matt Gibson (Rifles) as well as Paul DeMarco, Paul Salafia, Stephen Prochniak and Keith Rembisz (Riddlers).

Rockets 1, Rushers 0

Both teams made many attempts to score throughout the play, unsuccessfully. Two minutes before the final whistle

Stephen Napolitano assaulted the Rushers nets and won the points for his team. Both teams played a great game, the last minute goal decided the victory. ESB: Booth Kyle, Mark Leinson, Stephen Liaw (Rockets) as well as Goalie Ian Anderson, Matthew Salamone (Rushers).

Rulers 2, Racers 1

The Racers took an early lead when Kevin Foley booted in the ball; the Rulers tied it up in the third quarter when J. B. Burgess scored. With one minute left in the game, Denny Palmer assaulted the Racers nets successfully and the Rulers won the victory points in a hard fought contest. ESB: Craig Busceme, Doug Rogers and David Vogel (Rulers) as well as Jonathan Clough, Michael Flynn and Andrew Warren (Racers).

Rustlers 3, Renegades 3

The Rustlers scored twice in the first quarter (Brent Raftery on a pass from Andy Shea and Chris McAnally on a beautiful long shot) and again in the third (Chris McAnally) to take a commanding lead. The spirited Renegades worked hard to get the ball into the nets and when they succeeded on three occasions (Scott Clementi (2), one on a pass from A. J. Boutin and Brad Reghitto, and another on a penalty shot, as well as Kurt Brucato on a pass from Thatcher Worthen), they tied up the game. ESB: Randy Ying, Gabe Bruno and John Mattola (Renegades) as well as Bobby Devaney and John Gemmell (Rustlers).

Razors 1, Raiders 1

Two teams with a perfect record met, played a great game throughout and the end result was a tie, with both teams splitting the points. The Raiders scored in the second quarter (Robert Stoltz on a pass from Rich Atkinson) and the Razors' Mickey Schallop booted in a goal in the final quarter. ESB: David Stark, Jeremy

National Majors

By Dan Grams

The Andover National League managed to play four of five games in its first full week of baseball, despite the miserable weather. If the results of the past week are any indication of the upcoming 1980 season, no team will run away from the rest of the pack, as in previous years. The balance of the league should provide an exciting season, with the champion not being decided until the very end.

mance on the mound for the Cubs, striking out nine batters, while limiting the Mets to just three hits.

Chris Bartley, Curt Lengeman, and Peter Trede shared the pitching chores for the Mets, while Lenegeman, Jack Sweeney, and Scott Wilkins had the three Met hits.

Jay Trepanier and Rick Bauzil turned in fine defensive plays for the Cubs, while George Liss sparked the Met defensive Sandy McNeish and Wilkins both stole three bases for the Mets.

Braves 6, Giants 1

The Braves upped their record to 2-0 with a 6-1 victory over the Giants. Jeff Penner picked up his second straight win, silencing the Giants' bats to just one hit, a double by Franny Ferrara.

Penner and Jeff McNeil were the big hitters for the Braves with two hits apiece. Tim Plaehn made the play of the game, making a spectacular over the shoulder catch to halt a Giant Rally. John Twomey, Matty Aumais, and Joshua Yzerski also stood out for the Braves.

Pirates 4, Cardinals 1

The Cardinals and Pirates hooked up in an old-fashion pitching duel, with the Pirates sneaking by 4-1. Rob Detroia bested Card pitchers Ted Cormier and Rob Carpentier with a two hitter.

Steve Gemmel's two R.B.I. single was the lone hit for the Pirates, now 1-1. Mark Baldwin and Will Jones made fine plays in the field for the Pirates.

Ted Cormier and Matthew Geiger's doubles accounted for the Cardinal hits. John Gangi made a super play in left field, gunning down a runner at the plate for the Cards.

Giants 13, Cubs 9

Fielding miscues spelled trouble for the Cubs early. After falling behind nine runs, the Cubs staged a serious comeback, only to come up a bit short, as the Giants hung on and took a 13-9 victory.

Chris Colsia relieved Giant pitcher Fran Ferrara to pick up his second win. Ferrara, David Weymouth, and Dave Pratt had singles for the Giants, while John Marrocco and Craig Wilson added doubles for the winners.

Scott Grant and Rob Nelson banged out the big hits to rally the Cubs, while Rob Hendry turned in three solid innings of relief.

Mets 7, Braves 4

The Mets picked up their first victory of the season with a 7-4 victory over the Braves. Chris Bartley and George Liss combined to toss aa five-hitter, striking out 12.

Scott Wilkins' two-run homer and Liss' bases-clearing double ignited the Met attack. Dan Hegarty, Bartley, and Luke Wennik also had singles. Jack Sweeney threw down a runner trying to steal in the last inning to stop a Brave comeback.

John Twomey and Jonthen Yzerski split the pitching duties for the Braves, while David Sullivan had two hits. Steve Mencis was a defensive wizzard at second base.

American Majors

The American Major League schedule was abbreviated by poor weather conditions with only three games being played. Two games have been rescheduled to Saturday, May 10. The Twins-Indians game will be played at West at 10 a.m., and the Yankees-Orioles rainout will be played at South at 5 p.m.

Orioles 8, Red Sox 5

The defending Little League Champions, Orioles, won their 1980 opener by defeating the Red Sox. David Curtis and Mark Paskowsky split the pitching chores with Paskowsky being credited with the win. Curtis and Chris Concerni were the hitting stars for the Orioles, with Mosa Kaleel, Gerry Nassif, Mike Melia and Mike DelTrecco contributing for the Red Sox. Chris Nelson and Kevin Henderson were defensive standouts for the Orioles, with Henderson making a game-saving catch of a line drive in the last inning with the basis loaded to save the game.

Orioles 13, Twins 8

The hitting of Mark Paskowsky, Bruce Crawford and Allan Reeder along with 17 walks issued by Twins hurlers led the Orioles to victory. Paskowsky has three hits while Crawford and Reeder had two each, including a double by Reeder. Reed pitched three scoreless innings in picking up the win. For the Twins, Mike Boush had two hits including a double.

Tigers 8, White Sox 6

The Tigers registered a come-from-behind win by scoring seven runs in the fifth inning in a rain and darkness shortened five-inning game. The winning rally included doubles by Earl Abdo and Shane Smith. John Moossaalso doubled for the Tigers as Abdo was the winning pitcher. Steve Duncan slammed a two-base hit for the White Sox.

Phys. Ed. Aid Approved; Band Post Passed Over

The school committee Tuesday night approved a new position of physical education and athletics resource specialist, but passed over action on an assistant band director for further information.

The phys ed position was requested, Asst. Supt. Charles Mitsakos said, because of the "enormity of responsibility" of Athletic Director Richard Swift. The resource person would take on the scheduling duties involved with the myriad of intramural and intra-scholastic sports for women, as well as for men, as well as others.

Mitsakos said that Swift had been told to find the money within the athletics budget, and that he had come up with $2100 from the revolving fund, to come out of gate receipts at sports events.

School Committeeman Donald Robb was the lone vote against the specialist, maintaining that the position had been discussed only "briefly" when they went through the budget, and that he wasn't ready to act on it without more information.

When it came time for the band person, the administration had shared the information that there is now only one individual responsible for 165 youths.

"We don't ask any other group of that size to function under just one person," Mitsakos said.

Diana Kolben, fine arts program advisor, said that the character of the band is changing, because they are interested in competition, and that they found out that "we have a lot of work to do."

She said they are recruiting quite a few people to upgrade the organization," and that they will be competing in three major events next year.

The stipend would have been $1000.

In other personnel action, the committee balked at giving leaves of absence to two veteran art teachers at East Jr. High for next year but in the end went along 4-1, with John Eaton voting opposed, as a matter of principle.

Eaton was first to question the leaves for Susan R. Ooyevaar, who has been with the system since 1970, and Patricia Pope, who has been in Andover since 1971.

How can we afford, he asked "to do without "two very good people?"

Supt. Kenneth R. Seifert said that as administrators, he and Principal Richard McGrail would have voted "no" also. But, he said, "both are deserving."

He said one of the teachers wanted to take a leave for the current year and was persuaded to stay on.

"When people have given great service and recognize their responsibility," he said, "then you have to honor their request. They're good, hard-working people.

Mitsakos said another art teacher with considerable secondary experience will be transferred to East for next year.

The committee also approved the retirement of Lester F. Dixon, custodian at Sanborn and a nine-year veteran of the system; and accepted resignations from Judith Enaire, instructional aide for the perceptually handicapped class at East Jr. High, since 1979; Sharon Harms, career education specialist at East Jr. High, with the system since 1975 and now on leave of absence; Mildred M. Lane, music teacher at West Elementary, with the system since 1964 and also on leave; and Frederick LeMay, senior custodian at West Elementary, with the system since 1972.

The committee elected Christine Zampell, high school science teacher, to tenure; re-elected for the first time Iora Alexander, assistant principal at West Elementary; and corrected the salaries of Diana Kolben, fine arts program advisor, to $21,900 a year; and Rosamond Bastable, occupational education program advisor, to $24,300 a year.

The committee appointed Charles Croteau of Andover to senior custodian at South School, 7 to 3 shift, $11,076 a year (subject to Civil Service approval); Anita Karas of Andover, permanent substitute in Traditional Grade 1 at West Elementary, $11,555; Patricia Kaspar of Andover, permanent substitute in art at West Elementary, $11,555; Patricia Korandanis of Andover, half-time permanent sub in home economics at the high school, $5,777; William Kolbe of Andover, permanent sub in Spanish at the high school, $11,555; Debra Orr of Beverly, permanent sub as a food management teacher at the high school (federally funded position), $11,555; Kathleen St. Amand of Methuen, permanent sub in Grade 2, West Elementary, $11,555; and Richard Beddoe of Belmont, permanent sub as a school adjustment counselor, $12,700.

Rosemary Surette was transferred from switchboard operator to payroll coordinator, $10,171 for a 52-week position; and Stephanie Scuderi, from payroll clerk to switchboard operator, at $11,357 a year.

Construction Manager Vital To Project

If a construction firm is not hired to supervise the school building project, the director of public works is "convinced without a single doubt that the project will meet disaster," he said last Thursday.

DPW Director Robert McQuade told the school building committee that money spent to hire a construction firm to manage the $11 million project, recently approved by town meeting, would be "the best money spent on the entire project."

"This is the only way this project has a prayer," McQuade said. He explained that the building project "couldn't be any more complicated" because it involves "rehabilitating buildings, adding onto them, and working with existing structures."

Town Manager Jared S. A. Clark has proposed hiring a construction firm to act as a project manager, or his "eyes and ears and brains" to supervise renovations and additions at Doherty school, the Memorial auditorium wing of East Junior High, West Junior High, and the high school.

The firm, which would not bid on the project, would have inspectors on-site throughout the construction to make sure all work was done properly and on schedule, Clark told the building committee.

The project manager would not take over the responsibilities of the architect or the building committee to oversee the project, Clark added.

One of the best construction firms in the country should be hired as the project manager, McQuade said. He explained that the three construction projects — which may be completed by three general contractors — would involve "at least 20 sub-contractors from the various building trades."

The project manager would be able to "call on people within their firm who have expertise within each of the various fields," McQuade said.

"Clerks of the works, no matter how qualified they are, are just eyes. They bring the problems to you," said McQuade. "But many decisions have to be made in the field. Only one of the best construction firms in the country is capable of completing this project to the satisfaction of the town."

Architect Herb Glassman of Perley F. Gilbert Associates added that, in his experience in the private sector, the project manager and architect "work together as a team in fast-tracking a project."

"This is the only way to stay within a fixed budget on a project, which is one reason why it has become so popular," Glassman said.

The cost of a project management firm, including clerks of the works, could be at least $200,000, McQuade said, and as much as $300,000, Clark told the Selectmen Monday night. That money will be part of the $11 million approved by town meeting, Clark said.

In addition, the state's School Building Assistance Bureau (SBAB), which is expected to fund 50 percent of the building project, has said it would share the cost of hiring a project manager, Clark said Friday.

The building committee instructed Clark to develop a proposal for the hiring of a project manager, and present it to the committee.

"If this can guarantee dry roofs, I'm for it," said committee member Frank Hill.

Reactors

Seventy nuclear reactors in the U.S. have generated 600,000 gallons of radioactive waste and 7,700 metric tons of spent fuel which is stored in temporary "pools" at the reactor sites. No site has been found for the long-term disposal of these wastes, Massachusetts Audubon notes. Over 11,000 publications by scientists have discussed problems and possible solutions for nuclear waste management.

Andover Founders 0, Marblehead Spinnakers 2

Andover Clashers 1 North Andover 11

Andover Clashers 0 Methuen St. Monica's SC 2

The Clashers were challenged by a strong North Andover line-up who dominated throughout the game and booted in a total of eleven goals before the final whistle. Andover's goal scored on a

Andover Cleavers 1 North Andover Eagles 6

The Eagles dominated the first half of play and took the lead with three goals. Andover played a stronger second half but were only able to get the ball into the nets entire area had been totally residential until town meeting voted to rezone part of it in 1956. He said Wormwood protested back then, but was assured he would be protected by the 300 feet. In 1969, Bryden said, a proposed amendment to delete the 300-foot restriction was defeated on the floor of town meeting.

Wormwood said he grew up on the property and when he returned to Andover after World War II, purchased a additional seven acres and built a home with a broad field at the back and a view of woods.

He said a company came in last fall and removed all of the trees over two to three acres.

Instead of a "pleasant wood lot," he said he now looks out on a "gravel embankment barrier."

Vandalism

responsible for vandalism involving cars.

Alcohol abuse now represents a greater threat to Andover than does drug abuse, the chief says, although he quickly points out that the police department has not decreased attention to the drug problem. "Last week we arrested a group caught selling drugs behind East Junior High," he says, "and we intend to come down hard on them."

What are the schools doing to combat vandalism? Educational programs on drug and alcohol abuse have been offered within the curriculum for several years, as the first step.

And pupils who are caught vandalizing school property are made to pay for the damages, and assigned additional work, says Supt. Dr. Kenneth Seifert.

"Two years ago we caught two kids who had done $5000 worth of damage to one of the elementary schools," he says. "They presented their weekly paychecks to me, and I turned them over to the town, until they paid the full cost of the damages. Plus they each worked 100 hours in the schools."

The schools must focus their attention on vandalism within the schools, which includes graffiti on walls, writing on desks, and signs ripped down, says Seifert. The school administration is currently taking steps to teach students "respect for property as one of our primary values. That is as important as what they are learning in the classroom."

Furthermore, acts of vandalism will be noted on a student's recommendation to colleges and prospective employers, says Dr. Seifert, "and that is of significant impact on students in Andover."

But more importantly, the administration hopes that students will pressure other students to stop vandalizing school property. "If the good kids don't put the pressure on other kids, then our only alternative is to have more administrative control, such as monitors — and that costs money," says Seifert.

There are no simple solutions to town-wide vandalism, the police chief says, whether it is at the schools, on public property, or private homes.

Curfews were tried last summer, says Johnson, but proved to be "impossible to enforce, because there is so much property and we have a small force." Seven policemen usually patrol the town at night, he says.

Increased industrial development in the town also necessitates more police patrols, says the chief, "and we are short-handed." However, the department is trying to step up patrols and arrests, he says.

The most effective weapon against vandalism might well be the increased involvement of town departments and businesses, says Johnson. "The department of community services, the town manager, and the vandalism committee are all working together, and that could be one of the best solutions."

Private citizens, whether they are parents or not, can also get involved in the effort, says the chief. "If you see something happening, contact the police."

"Some residents are so disgusted, they don't even call us anymore. But we would like to have everything reported, so that we can see if a pattern is developing, and then work to curtail it," he says.

Neighborhood groups can also help prevent crimes by keeping an eye on each other's property, says Johnson. "People should be aware. Sometimes a vandal might not do something if he thinks he's being watched."

Townpeople should also notify police of suspicious activities such as "kids congregating on a street or a loud house party," Johnson says. Many residents hesitate to report on their neighbors' children because they fear angering their neighbors, he says.

"But it is not a question of angering your neighbor. It's a question of getting involved in your own neighborhood."

By working together, police, schools, parents, students, homeowners and town officials may be able to reduce the vandalism problem in Andover, says Chief

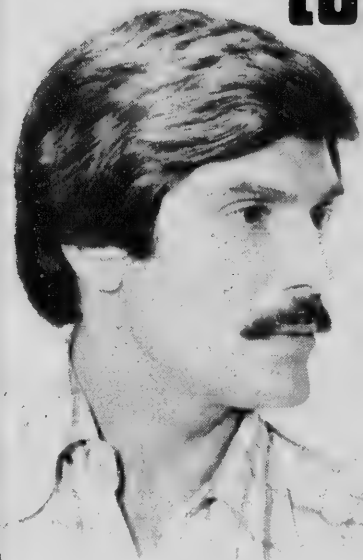

Johnson. "We can't expect an overnight solution," he explains, "but we've got to start somewhere."

Audi 5000 vs Mercedes 280E.

Give an inch, save a bundle.

Actually, Audi 5000 is 1 1/2" shorter overall. But when it comes to trunk size, Mercedes 280E loses by a margin of two good size suitcases. In the Audi, cut velour upholstery is standard. It's extra in the Mercedes. Both cars are about equal in head, shoulder and leg room. But only Audi gives you front wheel drive for extra directional control, plus power-assisted rack and pinion steering.

Not bad.

Particularly when you can own the Audi 5000 for less than half the cost of Mercedes 280E. Come in and compare. You'll like the Audi difference.

Equipment Purchase Bond Is Approved

The Massachusetts Industrial Finance Agency (MIFA) has approved a $500,000 tax-exempt, low interest bond to help finance the purchase of equipment for Cressey, Dockham & Co., Inc. in Andover. The company expects to add 30 to 50 new jobs upon completion of the project.

This project will supplement an earlier project approved by MIFA which consisted of the construction of a 128,000 square foot warehouse at One Parade Place, and improvements to an existing warehouse. Cressey, Dockham & Company is involved in the distribution and sales of wholesale grocery items.

The bond will be issued through the Andover Industrial Development Financing Authority (IDFA).

"In spite of extremely high interest rates and a faltering national economic climate, companies such as Cressey, Dockham and Company are helping the Massachusetts economy to grow with MIFA's assistance," said the agency's executive director, Robert E. Patterson. "This growth will translate into new jobs and additional tax revenues which will benefit our communities."

At its monthly board of directors meeting MIFA gave initial approval to a total of 33 projects across the state. The projects, upon completion, will result in $70.3 million in new plant and equipment investment in Massachusetts, which should help create 2,163 new jobs.

Two of these projects will assist companies in the purchase of pollution control equipment.

"Revenue bonds for pollution control are indicative of the commitment of this agency and the Commonwealth to a clean, safe environment," said Patterson. "We also offer federally guaranteed pollution control bonds for smaller companies on very advantageous terms."

The legislature created MIFA in 1978 as an independent public agency designed to encourage industrial and commercial growth and economic development in Massachusetts. MIFA utilizes tax-exempt financing and mortgage insurance incentive programs to significantly reduce the cost and risk of borrowing for an expanding company.

Calendar

eliminates February vacation but gives a four-day weekend over Martin Luther King Day, which falls on Thursday, Jan. 15. Estimated savings: $1200.

Plan C adds half-day Saturday sessions in September, October, November and May, and retains February and April vacations and a long Martin Luther King weekend. Christmas vacation begins at noon on Wednesday, Dec. 24, and school reopens Monday, Jan. 5.

Plan D lengthens the school day by 30 minutes, provides a Dec. 23 to Jan. 5 Christmas vacation, a Feb. 13 to 23 break and an April 16 to 27 break, and still gets pupils out on June 6. The plan, however, may actually increase fuel costs by $33,296, because of the longer days.

Plan E extends the school day for one hour through April 16, and provides for a four-day school week during the peak heating months of December, January, February and March. It provides for a Dec. 18 to Jan. 5 Christmas vacation, and an April 16 to 27 spring break, but does away with February vacation entirely. School gets out June 5. Estimated savings: $10,734.

Plan F lengthens the school day by 18 minutes during Eastern Daylight Time and also lengthens Christmas and February vacations (Dec. 19 to Jan. 5 and Feb. 12 to 24). It could save some $20,900.

Plan G lengthens the school day by 7½ minutes, extends Christmas vacation (Dec. 19 to Jan. 5), retains February and April vacations and lets school out June 24. It also provides long weekends over Veterans Day and Martin Luther King Days, and would save an estimated $15,500.

Plan H also includes a long Christmas vacation (Dec. 19 to Jan. 5), while retaining February and April breaks, but school gets out June 29. It could save about $21,600.

The committee allowed Tuesday night that there may be as many variations on the calendar as there are people, but urged the community to express itself before their May 20 decision.

Savings In Recycled Paper

By Virginia Cole

This week the case is being made for savings in energy from recycling newspapers. We've heard for a long time about these savings when glass and metals are re-used. Less energy is needed in the manufacturing process than with virgin materials. Now we have facts documenting this same point from the newsprint industry, as reported in the periodical Solid Waste Management.

Mr. Perkins of Augusta, Me., says it requires 25 percent less energy to manufacture a ton of newsprint from recycled newspaper than a ton of standard newsprint manufactured from trees.

He also points out that the United States imports seven million tons of newsprint per year. This importation adds to our adverse balance of payments. More newsprint made here from recycled papers would help to reverse this figure, help curb inflation and stabilize the dollar.

Sounds like an awful lot of big and important reasons to put your newspapers out on the curb the first and third weeks of the month. Even if you only buy some of the reasons; join us.

Join us Saturday morning, May 10 from 10 to 12 noon at the Cardinal Cushing gym on Haverhill Street. You can bring your donations for the Recycling Auction at that time. The auction won't be until May 21 but we will be at the gym to collect each Saturday morning in May.

WHICH IMPROVEMENTS MAKE SENSE?

How much money should you put into improving your home? As much as you can afford IF you are doing it for your own enjoyment and don't plan to move for a long time. However, if you plan to make major improvements in order to get a better price when you sell, it often is economically unwise. Seldom do such improvements bring more than fifty cents on the dollar spent to make them. And all bets are off if you overvalue your house in relation to other houses in the neighborhood. An old real estate axiom says, in effect, that few people will spend $80,000 for a house in a $60,000 neighborhood. That's virtually true regardless of how large or good a house it may be.

The addition of an extra bedroom, in-ground swimming pool or central air conditioning, will increase the value of your home. But usually at a fraction of the cost. About the only money you should spend on a house to sell it at a higher price is for repairs and decorating that are obviously needed to put your best foot forward.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at THE HOWE AGENCY, 4 Pynchard Ave., Andover, Phone: 475-5100. We're here to help.

Thinking of Home Improvements?

Before selecting a contractor, consider these important points:

Protect yourself: Is the contractor fully insured should an employee be injured on your property — or accidentally damages your property or a neighbors?

Avoid misunderstandings:
When getting several bids on a job, verbal descriptions alone may leave gray areas that can cause bids to vary substantially.
Blueprints and/or exact specifications of materials to be used are recommended to assure all contractors are bidding on exactly the same ideas. Will the contractor provide you with a written, detailed contract, stating clearly what is to be done and at what price?

Reliability — References: Is the contractor well known locally? Does he offer a local telephone number to reach him if questions arise? Does he have brochures or photos of his work? Previous customers references really do not tell you much except the names of one or two satisfied customers — of course no one would provide dissatisfied clients as references! Best references are names of professional people such as local realty agencies, materials and lumber suppliers and local newspapers carrying the contractor's ads. These people get feed-back from lots of clients. They know how long he has been in business locally.

Professional affiliations:
Hopefully, the contractor you choose belongs to one or more professional business or trade organizations who want members to uphold their high standards.

Revaluation Work To Begin

The town has contracted with PRC Jacobs of McLean, Va., to undertake a revaluation of all real property within the municipality.

PRC Jacobs will perform the revaluation to ensure that all properties are appraised at full cash value as defined in Chapter 59 of the General Laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Commencing about June 1, PRC Jacobs personnel will begin visiting every parcel of real estate to gather, verify and record property information. All personnel employed by PRC Jacobs will be registered with the Andover Police Department and will carry official identification badges. If you have any questions as to the proper identification of a representative of PRC Jacobs, contact the Andover Police Department.

Eugene Tworek has been designated by the company as the project supervisor and is already on the job. Tworek has over six years experience in mass appraisal. He has hands-on experience in virtually every facet of mass appraisal. Tworek will make his home in the Andover area for the duration of the project. You may contact Mr.

Tworek and his staff at 475-0635.

Revaluation of the town was approved by the 1979 town meeting, following a court-order which mandated that all communities in the Commonwealth must bring valuations up to 100 percent of fair market value.

Voters had rejected the proposal at three prior town meetings. Prior to the '79 session, the state department of revenue had included Andover among a number of communities in a court case which would have resulted in the state doing the revaluation.
